- Two positions available: part-time (0.05FTE) fixed term to 1 March 2019

About the opportunity

Sydney Adventist Hospital (SAH) in Wahroonga is the largest single campus private hospital in NSW, with over 500 beds, a 24-hour Emergency Department and a broad range of clinical disciplines and services. The SAH Clinical School has over the past 8 years developed and expanded multidisciplinary clinical training capacity within this major private hospital and health service complex in a highly successful partnership with the Sydney Medical School, The University of Sydney.

We are seeking expressions of interest from senior teaching and research academics for the following positions:

- Senior Lecturer (Level C) in Endocrinology
- Senior Lecturer (Level C) in Cardiology

In these roles you will develop, manage, oversee, evaluate and improve the training of medical students in the Sydney Medical School four-year program, based at the Sydney Adventist Hospital Clinical School (SAHCS), through the provision of education, clinical service, supervision and professional review within the disciplines of Endocrinology and Cardiology respectively.

About you

The University values courage and creativity, openness and engagement, inclusion and diversity, and respect and integrity. As such, we see the importance in recruiting talent aligned to these values in the pursuit of teaching and research excellence. We are seeking to appoint Academics in Endocrinology and Cardiology who possess:

- a medical degree registrable in Australia
- appropriate specialist medical qualification and experience
- a PhD or equivalent degree and experience demonstrated expertise in your specialty and experience working in a large teaching hospital and/or private practice
- clinical privileges as an Accredited Medical Officer at SAH, or eligibility to apply for these, and a willingness to conduct your primary clinical practice within the hospital
- enthusiasm for teaching with evidence of skills for effective lecturing and a proven ability to deliver courses in the discipline within an undergraduate or postgraduate medical program
- excellent oral and written communication skills
- skills in working in a collaborative team environment
- teaching experience in the private sector (desirable)
- significant experience or demonstrated interest in research (desirable).

Other

As this position is located at Sydney Adventist Hospital, it is a regulatory requirement to complete compulsory employment checks prior to commencing in this position. More information will be provided at interview.
