

Registered Nurse - Northern Nuclear Medicine – part time hours (approx 12 per week)

Location - Sydney Adventist Hospital, Wahroonga

Northern Nuclear Medicine performs a variety of nuclear medicine diagnostic imaging scans.

A part-time nurse is required to fulfil the following role:

- preparation (including intravenous cannulation) of patients undergoing PET scans
- preparing and assisting with patients undergoing stress ECG tests (exercise and pharmacological)
- general nursing duties with hospital in-patients referred to our practice for scans

Therefore, cannulation skills are essential. Previous exercise stress testing or cardiology experience is preferred.

The position is for 2 days per week (approximately 12hrs/week), and the successful candidate must have flexibility to increase hours a little and change days to provide annual leave and sick leave cover for the other part-time nurse. The clinic operates between Monday to Friday, so there is no requirement for weekend work.
